Selected research reading 4.

What are the missing words?

Reading about the research _____ ____ by Kimishige and Teruko Ishizaka – who were given the Asahi Award for _____ material against allergies – we learned anew that _____ requires not just outstanding brains and flashes of genius but also _____.
These scientists, a married couple serving as a professor and an associate professor at a university in the United States, thought about _____ the immunizing material, which can be found in very small amounts in serum, around 1960. They injected rabbit serum into each other and _____ carried out their work for six years. Ishizaka, who is now honored as the _____ of "antibody globulin E" says laughingly: "The experiments were _____only about three times in each 100 times."
